A Fragment from "Between the Bridges."

As the weather and candidates have a right to be the topic of the day I write you thus:

Last Tuesday morning I heard a noise like that of a frog in my horse-lot and dug in the ground a few inches and found it was a frog alive and singing. I took him up again for fear of trouble to him.

I have a thermometer that has stood in the same place for over 18 years, and the same kind of fluid used all the time, and has never failed to mark the exact temperature of the room I have, using it as a guide. Last Tuesday night was the coldest in the past eighteen years. The thermometer referred to is my well, and not until then was there ever been a bit of ice on it. Wednesday morning the ice was half an inch thick all over the yard. Other thermometers may mark different, but you may know I will believe mine to be correct. Moreover, all the fluid above ground froze up tight in this end of the county, except a few bottles of W. A. Gaines & Co.'s mixture that stood the test, and it was somewhat thickened but still was passable.

Now as to those seeking county office. The men out here will all vote for Gen. Scott Brown for Senator, Geo. S. Green for County Clerk, and unless we have better officers to conduct the election the men out here will all vote for Col. S. I. M. Major for Representative. Not that the officers of the election in the past missed their duty in holding elections, but that the people are up in arms about the matter. The women say they will vote if they have to wear breeches to the election.

On Wednesday night he was a guest at the Bush Hotel, Frankfort. The next head of family was in the vicinity of Mrs. H. C. Tamm, a widow. From her it was supposed he was crazy, having previous to his death divested himself of his outer wear, his pants were torn to shreds and his coats were found some distance from where he was found. His clothes were such as any might be worn by a Native of little value was found on his person. The remains were decently interred in the Cemetery at Graefensburg. FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 14, 1885.

The new heating apparatus is being placed in the Opera House.

Mr. A. C. Wood, having been disappointed so often about the heating of the Opera House, has determined to have no more entertainments there until the new heating apparatus is installed, and found to come up to the requirements of making the house comfortable in the coldest weather. He has canceled all engagements and will not again throw the house open to the public until he knows that an audience will not suffer from cold while witnessing an entertainment.

Mr. J. K. Hamilton has executed a first class photograph of the old "Stone School-house" at Woodlawn, where so many of our citizens went to school, and to look upon it brings back the many happy hours of childhood spent there. The old buckeye tree is missing and very little of the hillside playground is shown in the picture, but it is the same old house it was a half century ago, and every scholar who obeyed the call to "books" there, or helped to "ban out" a teacher on circus day will want a copy of it. Call and see it at Hamilton's gallery.

Mr. Ed. C. Went, Jr., died at the residence of his father, in South Frankfort, Wednesday afternoon, at two and a half o'clock, after a lingering illness, in his nineteenth year. Being a member of the State Guard, he attended the encampment at Louisville in August, and contracted malarial fever, which confined him to bed for several months, but he finally recovered and was going about when he took a cold which settled upon his lungs, producing consumption, of which he died. He was a young man of great promise, universally popular with young and old, and his death is a great blow to his afflicted family. He was a printer by trade and an employee of the Yeoman office. The funeral took place yesterday morning from the Baptist Church, the services being conducted by Rev. G. F. Bagby, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. McC. Blayney and Prof. J. D. Pickett.

The steamer Hornet, on her up trip Tuesday morning, was blown against the cribbing at Lock No. 1 by the heavy wind prevailing at the time, and a large hole knocked in her hull. She sank in about twenty minutes in twenty-five feet water, only her Texas remaining above the surface. She had a number of passengers on board, and a large lot of freight. The yawl and life boats belonging to the boat were so tightly frozen to the hurricane-deck that they could not be gotten loose, and those on board could not get ashore except by means of a small boat brought off to their relief by the Lock-keeper. As soon as Mrs. Nellie Sanders, of this city, and the chambermaid, the only females on the boat, were taken off, Mr. H. B. Cummins, of this city, the Second Clerk, threw off his overcoat, jumped in the water and swam ashore with a line, which he made fast, to a tree but the captain failed to work and the boat drifted down stream. He was followed by most of the crew, many of whom he had to pull out of the water, where they were clinging to willows on the river bank. Capt. Sam Sanders, the old veteran, was temporarily in command of the boat, and was the last to leave her, being taken off in a skiff. Mr. Cummins walked down to Carrollton, a distance of four miles, after he got ashore, to enter a protest for the boat, and had his ears badly frostbitten. The boat sets squarely upon the bottom of the river and it is thought can be raised without great damage. The Kentucky River Navigation Company, who own her, seem to be very unfortunate, as they lost the Fauna Frees in November by fire at the Madison wharf, and now have several troublesome law suits with parties who were damaged by the fire.

The boat cost $12,000 and is fully covered by fire and marine insurance. The Underwriters have her in charge and will raise her in a few days.

Persons wishing to buy a farm should not forget that the sale of Elder John A. Sidenor's place comes off on Tuesday.

Ex-Gov. John P. St. John, of Kansas, will deliver a temperance lecture at the Opera House on Wednesday evening next, Feb. 18th.

During the thunder storm Monday morning the lightning ran into the telephone exchange and damaged the switch board considerably.

The grand jury failed to indict Thos. Dolson, colored, for the cutting of Bud Egbert, the proof before them showing that he acted in self-defense.

Rev. J. B. Tharp has accepted a call to take charge of the Baptist Church at Lagrange half his time, and has removed his family from Louisville to that place.

Mr. Wm. O. Riddell, formerly of this city but now of Richmond, was married on the 5th inst. to Mrs. Annie Fox, daughter of a leading farmer of Madison county.

During the thunder storm of Monday morning the wire of the Louisville telephone line was struck near the residence of Mr. Jos. Robinson and four poles shattered.

Mrs. Emily Tubbum, of Augusta, Georgia, sister of Mr. L. A. Thomas, of this city, has recently given $1,000 towards the erection of a Christian Church in Athens, Georgia.

Capt. Sam. Sanders has been steam-boating on the Ohio and Kentucky rivers for fifty-three years and never had a serious accident to happen to a boat under his charge until the sinking of the Hornet on Tuesday.

Our Bridgeport correspondent was mistaken in stating last week that Mr. Colón M. Jones had purchased the Whittington place, as we are informed by Mr. Jones that he did not buy it and the price given was much less than is asked for the place.

Frankfort Commandery, No. 4 Knights Templar, will meet in regular monthly conclave, at their asylum in Old Fellow's Temple, on Thursday evening next, at 7 o'clock. As business of great importance will be presented a full attendance of the Sir Knights is desired.

If the ground hog really did skip into his hole after seeing his shadow on the 21st, he acted wisely, for everyone else in this section felt like following his example when the rugged edge of the Weather Bureau's "white cyclone" struck us on Monday night. As a weather prophet he is no slouch.

Mr. Sanford T. Egbert (Bud), who was stabbed in a difficulty on Broadway street with a colored man by the name of Thos. Dolson, on the 25th of November, died Sunday afternoon, at 2½ o'clock, from the effects of his wounds. The funeral took place from the residence of his father Monday afternoon. He leaves a young wife to mourn his loss.

We are glad to say to the public, that the old reliable Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, has resumed business in Kentucky and has re-appointed Mr. S. C. Bull their agent. It is one of the oldest and is the largest Company in the world and its rates are 15 per cent less than any other Company. Call at McClure & Bros. and see Mr. Bull and let him write a policy on your life—today is the promise.

In the Circuit Court, Tuesday, Hon. Henry Flinney, the colored boy who robbed Messrs. Wakefield & West's cash drawer about a year ago and made his escape to Chicago, was given two years in the Penitentiary.

Bob Green, colored, for stealing Henry Pulliam's gun, was given one year in the Penitentiary Wednesday.

The jury in the case of the Jenkins boys, charged with the murder of John Lewis Daily, near Peak's Mill, about two years ago, failed to agree and were discharged.

In the case of William Robinson, colored, charged with shooting Silas Miller, also colored, about two months ago, the jury found him guilty of a misdemeanor and fixed his fine at $150.

Profs. G. Hog and G. Bone seem to have corroborated each other in their weather prognostications for this month.

This is St. Valentine's day, and the comic valentine will be in demand, while school children will besiege the post-office.

"NEW ORLEANS EXPOSITION."

The three curious tourists, Messrs. J. P. Moore, M. Rodgers and J. P. Hulette have just returned from the renowned World's Exposition, at New Orleans. From the purpose of their conversation we learn that a trip to that Exposition is within the reach of any person who is bold enough to travel and pleasure seek. Those gentle men report weather in New Orleans like unto our month of June, yet it was damp and rainy during all their sojourn there. Air mild and salubrious. Water for drinking purposes warm. The whole place the exact opposite of the fragrant vegetation. Orange trees laden with luscious fruit in every yard, lawn and park. Everything so inviting, both to eye and taste, as to constantly invite tourists to that warm and salubrious climate. The gentlemen took rooms at the Waverly Hotel, in the principal thoroughfare of the city, and were treated to all the kindest hospitality of our Southern friends. The city is subjected to a European plan. Hotels rent rooms for lodging, and lodgers are expected to eat at the nearest restaurant. The World's Exposition is well deserved of its name, for in the eleven buildings which cover 23 acres of land under roof, are found exhibits from every country, and every nationality in the human race is there seen walking upon feet. The Exposition Park is reached by railroads from every direction, and by trolley or omnibus about finding the exact position of the Exposition grounds have ten entrances, and 50 cents pays the entrance. Space will not permit us to mention but few of the exhibits, but suffice it to say the gentlemen saw a section of a tree of the pine species, cut 100 feet from the ground, and 100 feet in diameter, with four feet of wood in the interior, with four feet of bark. The different buildings for exhibits range from 100 feet wide to 1378 feet long, and the park has all the necessary appurtenances for modern accommodations. With view to economy in traveling expenses, one can easily go from the vicinity to New Orleans, remain a few days and take train to the exposition, and pay his fare to the city and Exposition for 35 dollars. The route from here to New Orleans through the many localities in the several States, is studded with many scenes to meet the wakefulness and enquiring eye of the true tourist.

But for the constant demand of Mr. Moore while touring the streets of that grand City, "four beers, two beer," etc., the gentlemen enjoyed a constant outflow of both pleasure and profit. Had Mr. Moore been so restrained as to center his thoughts more upon the objects of a Southern tour than upon a "beer," the whole trip to all the attractions could have been a trip of perfect pleasure and improvement. To those wishing to go to that Exposition, we would say go! Don't let 35 dollars of economical travel trifle with your conscientious scruples any longer. I would also insist that all tourists provide themselves with a lunch basket and a lunch ladder, with such common staple food as would last them a few days, and follow the above instructions, we would insure that all would be well as a marriage bell.
